

Meet All the Characters

OLD MAJOR

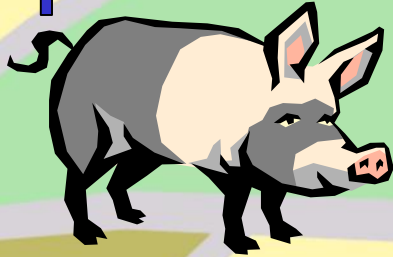

An old boar whose speech rouses the animals into rebellion. His philosophy is called Animalism. He teaches the animals the song of freedom “Beasts of England.”

Snowball

He is a young boar who becomes one of the rebellion’s most valuable leaders. He draws complicated plans for the windmill.

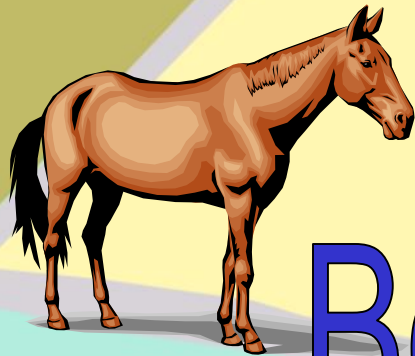

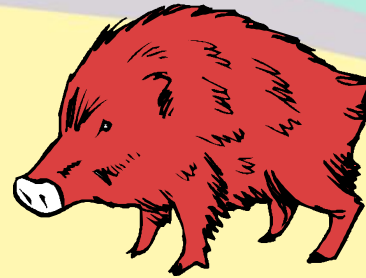

Squealer

A porker pig who becomes Napoleon's mouthpiece. He uses his ability to manipulate the animals.

Napoleon

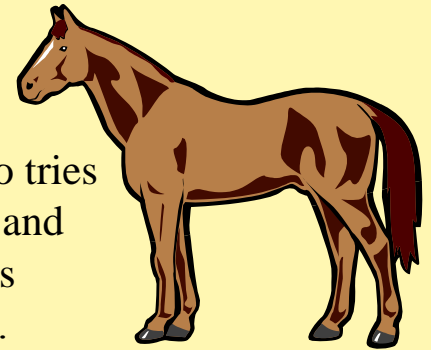

A boar, who with Snowball, leads the rebellion against Jones. He systematically takes over the farm and becomes undisputed tyrant.

Boxer

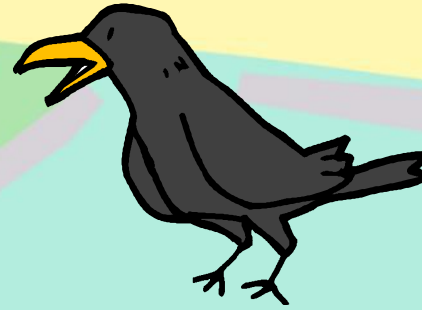

A dedicated and hard worker. He keeps believing that hard work solves all problems. He is sort of dimwitted.

A motherly horse who tries to take care of Boxer and who silently questions Napoleon's decisions.

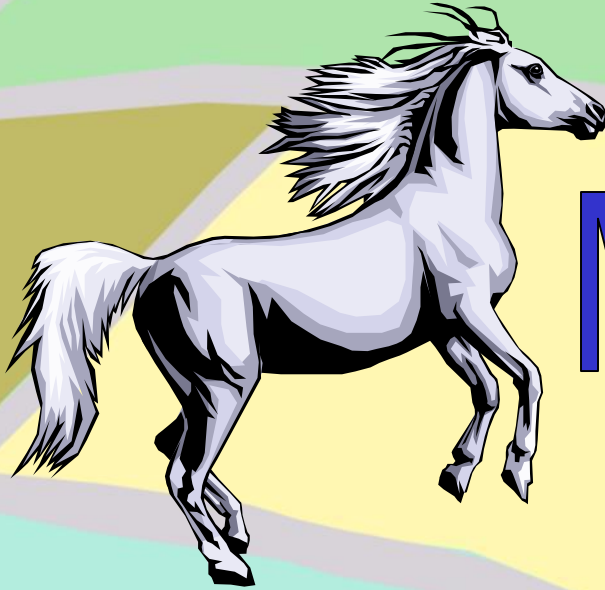

Clover

A tame raven who tells the animals stories about a paradise called Sugarcandy Mountain

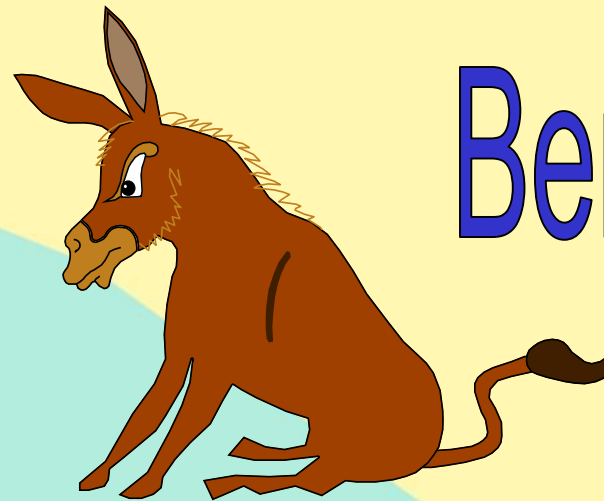

Moses

Mollie

A vain horse who prefers ribbons and sugar over ideas and rebellion. She is eventually lured off the farm.

A cynical, pessimistic donkey who continually undercuts the animals' enthusiasm.

Benjamin

Mr. Jones

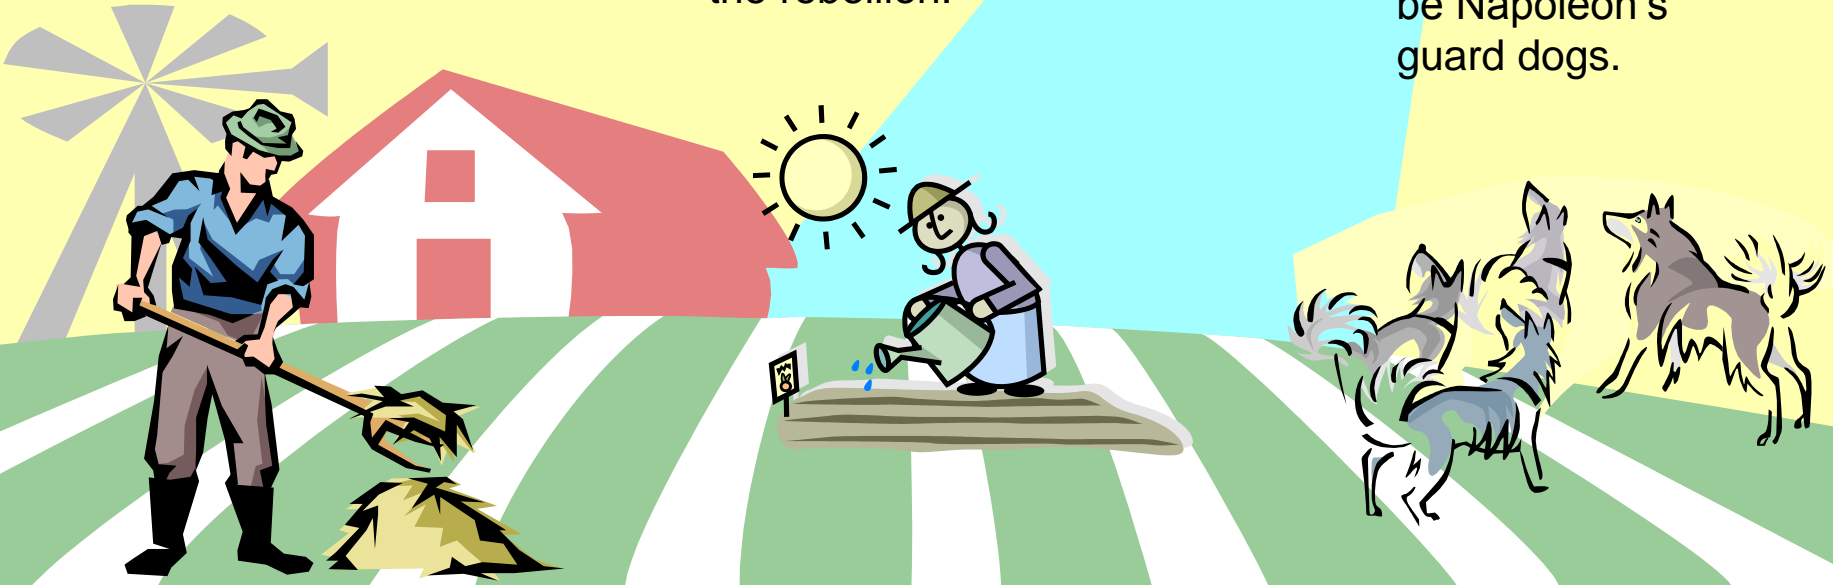

The often drunk owner of Manor Farm, later expelled by the animals.

Mrs. Jones

The farmer's wife who flees from the farm after the rebellion.

Bluebell Jessie Pincher

The dogs and their puppies raised to be Napoleon's guard dogs.

Mr. Pilkington

The owner of Foxwood, another farm. He eventually sells some of his land to Napoleon.

Mr. Whymper

A solicitor hired by Napoleon to act as an intermediary in Animal Farm's trading with other farms.

An enemy of Pilkington and owner of Pinchfield, another farm. Known for driving hard bargains, he swindles Napoleon. He later attacks the farm but is defeated.

Mr. Frederick
